

How can hospitality businesses save on water in the pool area?

Hospitality businesses use a lot of water every day – so small changes can make big waves!

Dive straight in

Introducing covers to reduce evaporative water and heat loss reduces power required to heat the pool – creating triple savings!

Backwash water – where the flow of water is reversed through your filter system to clean the filter – can be reused. This can recover up to 95% of water that would have otherwise been wasted and reduces chemical costs.

Making (air) waves

Water reuse in cooling towers (through closed loop recirculation systems or treating the blowdown water through reverse osmosis) will significantly reduce the amount of fresh water needed to top up once-through systems.
